Conditional Cards

The world would be much better

If it rains this weekend,

I wouldn't have been so angry

If I didn't come to class
today,

If I had been born into a super rich family,

If my home was near a
beach,

If I feel bored,

If you send me
flowers,

Life would be a lot easier

If this country were as cold as the North Pole,

If this was Saturday Night,

If I were a genius,

We would all be a lot happier

If we had studied mixed conditionals
before,

If it were my birthday
today,

If I were a teacher,

If I wake up late,

If you want to speak English well

Conditional Cards

In this enjoyable card game, students race to complete mixed conditional sentences.

Before class, make one copy of the cards for each group of three or four and cut as indicated.

Procedure

Split the class into groups of three or four.

Tell the students that they are going to play a card game using mixed conditional forms.

Give each group a set of shuffled cards and tell them to place the cards face down in a pile on the table.

The first student turns over the top card and reads it aloud.

The other students in the group then race to complete the ending of the conditional sentence.

This could be done in written form or orally.

The first student to produce a grammatically correct and appropriate conditional sentence keeps the card.

Then the second student picks up a card and so on.

The winner is the student with the most cards at the end of the game.
